

It is ridiculous to find out how the FCC and FTC plays favors for large corporations while stepping all over small business. I recently found out theat TV/Radio stations were exempt from the DO NOT CALL list. It all makes me wonder how much it cost for them to be exempt. I'm a small business owner and the DNC list will dramatically impact my business. Why is it that the rich and powerful keep getting exempt while the small and hard working individuals keeps getting stepped all over. If people with money and power can find a way to get exempt by bribing powerful government officials then these government officials should have a heart and give small businesses with ten or less people a break as well. They don't have the resources to upgrade their equipment to deal with the these laws. I personally find it ridiculous that some groups are excluded while others are not.
